kitchen provides ample living space. Each Residence (house) has its own dining room to allow staff to accommodate Resident's needs and dining schedule preferences and variations.

- B. The residence is organized as a secured unit that is equipped with delayed egress doors to prevent wandering. Window openings are limited to prevent accidents and elopement. The entire home is equipped with a sprinkler system throughout, emergency call bells in all resident rooms and bathrooms, smoke corridors, and supervised smoke detection systems for Resident safety. Kitchen equipment that may be unsafe for unsupervised access is locked and can only be operated by utilizing a key. All chemicals are also locked to ensure Residents' protection.
- C. In addition, each residence (house) has a screened porch and access to a secure patio with vegetable and flower gardens. The secure patio area is alarmed to offer this additional protection. This system is automatically disengaged in a fire emergency.

These residences create a habitat where elders can thrive and see themselves as individuals. The home offers companionship to reduce loneliness, useful decision-making roles to reduce helplessness and a varied, spontaneous atmosphere to reduce boredom.
- E. The Residence is staffed with direct care personnel, an administrator / program director, a qualified activities director, and a case manager. Other staff not specifically assigned to the Residence are available to address the needs of Residents that arise. The staffing plan is adjusted to meet the needs of the Residents.
- F. Care Partners and Licensed Nurses receive comprehensive training on effectively and respectfully meeting the needs of persons with dementia. The training includes methods on successfully cuing such individuals to independently perform personal care tasks, coordinating care with the Resident and their family, and wandering prevention.
