

Identifying factors associated with prostate cancer progression and survival in African American men: The RESPOND Cohort

What is the study about?

This study includes men with prostate cancer who completed the first RESPOND Study survey. We are asking study participants to take part in a follow-up survey. This survey will help us learn about the challenges men might face after being diagnosed with prostate cancer.

Who is eligible to participate?

Individuals who meet these criteria may be eligible to take part:

- Men who are African American or Black
- Diagnosed with prostate cancer
- Completed the initial RESPOND survey.

Partner institutions:

University of Southern California
